

Faculty of Health – Department of Psychology Clinical Psychology (Adult)

The Department of Psychology, Faculty of Health at York University (psyc.info.yorku.ca) invites applications for two (2) full-time tenure track professorial-stream appointments in Clinical Psychology (Adult) at the rank of Assistant Professor to commence July 1, 2019.

Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in Psychology from an accredited clinical training program and be eligible for registration as a psychologist in the province of Ontario.

We encourage applications from scientist-practitioners with a strong program of research in any field of: 1) adult psychological assessment and diagnosis including personality and cognition; 2) adult psychopathology including mood, anxiety, traumatic and psychotic disorders. Candidates should have a strong research record demonstrating excellence or rising eminence in their field, and the ability to attract substantial external, peer-reviewed research funding. Applicants should show excellence or promise of excellence in teaching academic as well as clinical/skills-oriented courses and in the supervision of graduate student research and practice in clinical psychology. Pedagogical innovation in high priority areas such as experiential education, community engaged learning and technology enhanced learning is preferred. The positions will involve undergraduate and graduate teaching and supervision. The successful candidates must be eligible for prompt appointment to the Faculty of Graduate Studies.

York is Canada's third largest university with a rich diversity of perspectives and a strong sense of social responsibility.
